They're not my kids, and not my problem.

About a month ago, I found out both of my children were the results of my soon to be ex-wives affairs. I've had a feeling for awhile now that both them were not mine. 6 years ago when my son was born, I was the happiest I had been in my entire life. I had married my best friend, we had a child together, and everything seemed amazing.

That was until he started getting older. After a few years, I started to have doubts that he was actually mine. He did not look like my child. The more he started to grow, the more I realized just how different he looked compared to what I would expect a child of mine to look like. I am not petty or paranoid enough to let that alone drive me. It was my whore of a wife that really set my alarms off.

Whenever she went out, she never went where she said she did. She would have huge holes in her schedule she could never explain to me, she would refuse to allow me to interact with anyone from her work place, and a close friend of hers accused her of flirting with her s/o at the time. It did not help that soon after our son was born, her lies started to catch up with her. Still though, I loved her like the fool I was. She told me up and down how much she loved me whenever one of her lies caught up with her. She had convinced me that despite the fact she was a lying and manipulative woman, that she wasn't a lying manipulative whore.

Last year, she got pregnant again, and I still held out a small bit of hope that it was mine. But when her daughter was born, it was obvious she was mixed race. I refused to sign the birth certificate, and the paternity test I demanded afterwards proved my suspicions right all along. Neither of them are mine.

The day I got these test results were the day I filed for divorce from that

The day I got those test results were the day I filed for divorce from that whore and walked away from the family I had created. I knew that it would destroy her sons life to see me walk out. Despite my concerns, I was the best dad I could be to him. I loved him with all my heart and put in 110% into being the father he deserved. Now though, when I see him I am filled with disgust. Disgust for my whore of a wife, disgust with myself for not trusting my instincts, and disgust that the last 6 years on my life have been for nothing. I have been told by multiple people now that I am a monster for leaving "my son" like this. My ex has tried on multiple occasions since I moved out to use him to guilt me into getting back with her. She will have him call me at random hours of the night crying and begging for "his daddy" to come back. The day I moved out, she paraded him into the room as I packed my things to show me "how much damage I am doing." In every conversation that he is brought up, both online and off, I am berated and shamed. That despite the fact I am not the boys biological father, I am his dad.

What I have sadly now realized is that, to most, my own feelings mean nothing. My parents are my only supporters through all this, with my own siblings calling me a despicable person for abandoning a child like that. My feelings of betrayal and sadness mean nothing, because a child is involved. I know it is not his fault. I know that the man he called his father for his entire life just walked away, But why am I expected to "man up?" Why should I have to pretend everything is fine and I do not feel contempt for this entire situation. Why should I put my own life and feelings aside? I never was the boys father, I loved him like one and honestly still do; but I would come to hate and contempt him if I had to play that role. Hate myself for not standing up and taking my own life back into my own hands. He is not my child, and even though it is not his fault, he is not my problem anymore.

You spend the first 6 years raising a child and saying you love that child then you abandon him because he's not related by blood to you. Of course you're an asshole, imagine abandoning a puppy after raising it for like 3 weeks. YOU HAD SEX WITH A WOMAN = you agreed to raise a child together, as the provider gender you are OBLIGATED BY FUCKING LAW to wage for and support it, this paternity bs is irrelevant once you signed said contract with your dry ass little dick,bitch. Best interest of the child trumps some entitled insecure male every. single. fucking. time period. Don't want to pay child support don't fuck, retard, it's that simple. As women are not the rapist/murder/subhuman provider gender they are not obligated and merely birth and raise children out of pure altruism and selflessness, abortion should be the moral default in literally any other case.

I'd pity the kids in the situation, but it's ultimately more dignified for the man to step out of the situation. More dignified for the kid not to wind up betrayed by the truth later on.

The problem was that he didn't get tests earlier and cut out of the situation before the kid could consciously know him. Which is why paternity tests should be mandatory

If a woman gets to have full control over abortion then a man should be fully able to decide whether he wants to be a father. Her body her responsibility. Simple as. In this case since the man isnt even the biological father the whole mother is solely responsible for this drama and she deserves to be stoned to death on the day the children reach adulthood to set an example to other wannabe whores that there may be consequences to their sins

>I'd pity the kids in the situation, but it's ultimately more dignified for the man to step out of the situation. More dignified for the kid not to wind up betrayed by the truth later on.

Pretty much this. And it was still very early in the kids' lives that the eldest will eventually move on and forget about him.

If it was at age 16, that's a bit more difficult because you invested a lot of time, memories, resources, and effort into the relationship. At that point, I would stoically maintain being the father until both kids graduate college, living on their own, and are into their careers or building a business. I will then calmly tell both kids that I'm not their biological father and I've done my duty for them despite the fact their mother had all those years to sit down and inform them of the truth. I have helped secure their adulthood and now I have to cut ties now. I will always cherish what we once had, but now they're adults and I have to live my life now without lies.

>The problem was that he didn't get tests earlier and cut out of the situation before the kid could consciously know him. Which is why paternity tests should be mandatory

Women will fucking fight tooth and nail if you bring that up. They gaslight dudes that they're being insecure and question "Why don't you trust me?" He should've done it as soon as the 1st kid was born and not sign the birth certificate, but the post indicates he was overjoyed at being a father and his judgment was clouded.

As for mandatory paternity tests, that will never happen because the government will be left holding the bag. They don't want to spend taxpayer money if there's some chump that'll be pinned with responsibility. Women; not all of them of course, but there's a fuckton who are complicit in affairs and passing off other men's babies as a simp's own will raise a huge stink about "fatherhood is not about blood kinship" and all sorts of leftist bullshit.

Dude, you have no idea how fucking sneaky women can be. Some of them will find your condoms and poke holes in them. Or craftily give you one that they have handy (which of course has holes too) or claim, "Don't worry bae, I'm on the pill". I even heard of stories where she takes the used condom to take the semen into her vag when the dude is in the bathroom, hence you ALWAYS take them with you and flush them down the toilet.

>Its her responsibility to know who she fucked with.

Are you listening to yourself? Modern women and responsibility are like oil and water.

Brazil has ruled homophobia punishable by prison (Image: Unsplash)

Brazil's Supreme Court has ruled this week that homophobia is now punishable by prison.

The unanimous 9-1 ruling that took place on Tuesday (22 August) now puts homophobic slurs on par legally as racist hate speech.

But these were men's rights activists, if even they don't want mandatory paternity testing at birth, who else will? Their excuse was that it would be forcing men to pay and I countered by saying that it should be state funded but then then came up with muh taxes. I told them that instead of wasting billions on overpriced F22s and helping isreal, then they banned me for being anti-semitic. Turns out they are a bunch of cuck's rights activists who bow down to the kikes.

Unfortunately, women are coddled by society. It's not her fault that she fucked and sucked every dude in town. It's the man's fault (because EVERYTHING is blamed on us) for not stepping up and being "a real man" to raise an innocent child.

Not even a prude, but there needs to be some kind of social shaming or accountability that prevents women from getting away with this kind of immoral and reckless behavior.

One of my former bosses (he was an asshole so I didn't feel sorry for him) apparently was in the middle of a divorce with his cheating wife because their daughter wasn't his. Absolutely

That lying whore is going to twist that boy's head with all sorts of lies and manipulation that it'll be a miracle he won't do drugs or end up in prison. YOUR FAMILY

The Rangers have one of the best Family Readiness Groups in the Army. Families of spouses are invited to attend many unit functions and they receive routine updates from the chain of command regarding deployments and training exercises.

While the pace of life in the regiment is faster than that of most conventional units, the leadership understands that balance and predictability are important qualities of family life. No one can predict Ranger deployment, but family members will receive up to date information about deployment and training timelines whenever possible.

Ranger families have access to dedicated doctors for care. They also have access to special Ranger facilities and enjoy a wide range of special regimental family activities and events.

Professional civilian family readiness advisors work full-time at each regimental unit to ensure families have the skills and support they need to be prepared for challenges of deployment. Dedicated Ranger chaplains are always available to provide counseling. Ranger spouses are often surprised to find that the friendships they develop with other Ranger families form lifelong bonds.

Just remember 1/3 of all children born to a married couple are not the fathers. 1/2 for service members.

I didn't read the whole post but yeah, family courts are absolutely fucked in favor of women. In domestic violence cases and child custody fights, women put practically zero effort to win. Men have to move mountains to even be considered maybe in the right. You can have the most cracked out retard woman vs a man with a stable job and health and he'd be hard-pressed to win the case. It's a sad state of affairs. Lots of horrible tragedy has resulted from these courts.

The biggest redpill I've learned in public school is that society will look the other way when a girl fucks up, but will come down hard on boys. Rules for thee but not for me.

Like others have commented in this thread and others, men are slowly waking up. Some quicker than others and there's still a lot of simps, but even news outlets and social networking in the last 3-4 years have articles where men are avoiding women altogether in the workplace if they can help it or dating them. It's just not worth it anymore, too much risk. She was never yours to begin with; it was just your turn.

This is untrue. Family courts are 100% in favor of the partner who makes less. The family court gets a % of all alimony and child support paid. They always find for the one that will give them the most money. As women start to make more than men the family courts are starting to side with the men.

The boy is either going to grow up becoming twisted by the single mom into a tranny, or will hold onto his hatred and become some kind of male chauvinist. There's no way he just becomes a normal person, though. But that will happen even if the Dad stays, since the Dad will hate him.

That's why some men are opting out of marriage or long-term relationships. Or avoid women altogether outside of hiring a pro. There's also a growing number who have the financial resources and/or job skills that allow them to go to Southeast Asia, Latin America, or Central/Eastern Europe to find a traditional woman to wife up.

But of course, women are catching onto this and it's all about them. They're the ones who are oppressed, men need to step up and quit being Peter Pan, men dating a woman 5-10 years younger than them are creepy groomers, blah blah blah. They can't leave us alone even though we do for them.

No, the whore wife is.

It's possible to raise a child you're not genetically related to, but everyone has to play with open cards.

She alone destroyed the family with her whoring around and being unable to stop it.
It's bad for the young boy, but I hope he learns to hate his whore of a mother with passion.

You can't trust women anywhere nowadays. Pre-Internet, you MIGHT find a quality traditional woman who isn't a gold digger or trying to nab a green card in Asia. I know a lot of servicemen who married Korean, Japanese, Filipino, Thai, and Vietnamese women during their days and they all treat their husbands like kings. But that's impossible today.

And yeah we're going to see some kind of bachelor tax in the future, but I'll emigrate to another country that has some rationale before that happens hopefully.

>It's getting to the point for people my age that moving out of Mom and Dad's house is even getting more rare.

I saved so much money living at home after graduating college since 2012. My parents don't mind because I help around the house and give them rent. They also understand how fucked the rental and real estate market is so I'm just saving away.

I really love how women try to spin it around and turn against men. Most men do not reach double digit numbers in partner count. Only 10-15% at best because those are the types of Chads or thugs that women like to get the tingles for.

The greatest value that a woman has historically offered herself to men is her purity. I'm not a Puritan so if she fucked ONLY 4-5 dudes by the time she's 21, no big deal. It means she has an active sex life since she was a teen and those 4-5 guys were most likely a boyfriend or two as well as a guy she was dating, but she wasn't slutting around with the football team or sucking off to some random stranger at a club.

And if sleeping with hundreds of men is so damned "empowering" and "liberating" why do so many women lie or hide it? Why should they care what some patriarchy dictates if they're a modern female? Because deep down, they KNOW it's shameful but they have to subvert the narrative.

When the check came, I ignored it for a bit and waited to see if she was going to reach for it, but of course she didn't. I chatted with her, excused myself to go to the bathroom, left payment and a generous tip for my portion of the bill but didn't pay for any of her stuff with the maître d', and left her at the restaurant. She blew up my phone with so much hate that it made me chuckle as I drove home. I was nice enough to leave cab fare for her since I figured a few bucks was worth avoiding the car ride back together.

1. Men who fuck a married woman should be forced to pay restitution to the cuck. Make it financially ruinous to fuck a married woman.
2. Women who cheat should be forced to pay alimony and child support to the men they cheated on. If she can't afford it, she loses the child. She should also be denied any form of welfare, housing assistance, social security, or etc. If she can't pay, she goes to prison like deadbeat dads.

There, problem solved. Men who get cheated on now get a massive payday like niggers' whose family members get killed while trying to shoot police officers. It's the male equivalent of the Nigger Lottery. You get a massive payday and both of the parties involved get absolutely fucked.

Getting married while being in the military is the dumbest shit imaginable. One of the kids in my baseball team had a dad who was an officer serving in the Pacific. No, the mom didn't cheat on the dad because my teammate and his sisters look very much like their dad (redhead just like him), but he rarely got to see the family.

And being a young guy with tangible financial benefits that some harlot can exploit? The military should explain to these recruits to be VERY fucking careful.

Never ever get married while being in and never tell a woman you are in. Being in the military is like winning the lottery and many women will kiss up to you so they can get gibs.

In the UK at least they are taught this in biology at indoctrination camp. They teach them that the egg is life and the sperm is just the key which unlocks the magic.

Interestingly in Japan they teach that the sperm is the life and the egg is just nutrition. They think the tail of the sperm grows into the backbone and the head is the head. This can be observed in the lab.

I don't know which way round it is but my daughters were taught the former and I had a thunk, but all British women believe they are some creators of life and like Gods. They also don't believe in genetic retention which is a theme in East Asian schools and the Shule society had something on it; essentially if your the second man your woman has had then your child is as likely to look like her first partner as yours. Multiply that up for however many negro cocks she took.

The first is how people in the West view it and has been since Pagan with concepts like "Mother Nature" and the such. Its the basis behind why men in the West behave the way they do when harm comes to a lady, they freak out and act violently. In the East men are valued and women are just the carrier. Sons are valued more than daughters. If a woman brings harm upon herself, it's her fault.

You're on to something, the question is how to get Western men to see it. Like I said for them it's biological and they won't hurt women.

Cooked, cleaned, and acted like feminine women. They admonished their husbands to do better when they did wrong and kissed their heads when they did right. Were also tiger moms; made damned sure the kids studied hard in school and participated in after-school activities like sports or theater.

He doesn't need to do anything for the child.

But going around saying the kid, who up until that day was your son, fills you with disgust.

Gotta admit that having those thoughts means the person is not gonna make it. He will devolve into a bitter shadow of himself.

It's generally understood that once you feel disgust for an innocent child, you are on the road to becoming a bitter person.

Guess what? I'm in legal trouble. It started in December of last year when I texted my ex that I was going to expose her for being a prostitute to her family.

She took the text and told police I was threatening her life and they believed her. So far it has cost me over $12,000 in legal fees and representation, I have 20 hours left in community service and I have just been placed in court-mandated anger management which costs $840 total and takes 24 weeks to do, regardless of how busy I am at my job.

My ex is a complete loser prostitute who jerks off and sucks off boomers for money, has over $100,000+ in debt. She basically lives with her parents and is a 5 at best and will be over 200 lbs probably within a few years due to atrocious habits and a slowing metabolism.

Has anyone cared that the reality of the situation was that I was threatening to tell the truth to her family and not threatening to kill her? No. The police don't care. Your own lawyer doesn't care. The judge doesn't care. The boomer women in charge of community service and 'anger management' don't care, they just want your money. Fuck you, male privilege, etc.

There is literally zero reason to interact with a western w*man anymore. Fuck & chuck maybe but never at your place and never with your real name/number.
